

ABSTRACT

5

In a process for controlling an audio/video digital decoder, a digital audio/video stream is acquired continuously, the video part of which is composed of an ordered sequence of images, a video decoding of all the 10 images of the sequence is carried out and a video signal based on only part of the images of the sequence is generated without however interrupting the playing of the audio sequence.